Nip Balloon Attacks Made on U. S. Mainland

Bombs Floated To West Coast Do No Damage

Have Been Arriving for Several Months, Officials Say

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Airmless Japanese balloons have been made on the Western United States mainland for several months, the army and navy announced today.

Carrying a few small bombs, the unmanned balloons float without control, their main purpose believed to be to set brush and forest fires. No property damage has resulted from the enemy's "fantastic effort," the announcement said.

No Cause for Alarm

The balloons are of gray, white or greenish-blue paper, about thirty-three feet in diameter. They are known to have landed or dropped explosives in isolated localities," it was stated, but it was emphasized that the attacks "should not be viewed with alarm."

The military made the announcement as a warning to the public. Unexploded bombs may be found in isolated places and should be avoided, it stated.

The balloons have been the talk of the west for months. Until today, however, the Office of Censorship forbade any mention of them in the press.

Attacks Scattered

Asking the public to keep specific information of the balloons from the enemy, the War and Navy departments said today the attacks were scattered and airmless, without military threat, but detailed facts might help the Japanese to correct their methods.

"There is always the possibility that unexploded bombs may be found lying in isolated spots or concealed in wooded areas," the statement said.

"Some may be buried in melting snow. With the coming of warm weather and the end of the school season, it is desirable that people and especially children, living west of the Mississippi river, be warned of this possible hazard and cautioned under no circumstances to touch or approach any unfamiliar object."

Safety Campaign Started

The War department has started an educational public safety campaign in co-operation with schools and civic organizations.

The enemy would be aided greatly by exact information about time, locality and effect of the balloons in helping him to evaluate his efforts, it was stated.

Accuracy Unlikely

"Due to the large areas of the United States and the variable nature of the winds, the possibility of a hit in any specific area is remote. The chances that any given place would be hit by these attacks is only one in many millions."

"Editors and broadcasters, co-operating with the office of censorship, have done a remarkably effective job of keeping all details from the enemy," the departments said.

They advised readers and listeners to understand that reports were limited to keep information from the enemy.

The public was urged to keep a careful watch "for possible forest fires started by incendiary bombs. Thus far, no such incident has occurred."

Gen. Geiger Predicts Victory on Okinawa

OKINAWA, May 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Marine Third Amphibious Corps today forecast the breakdown of Japanese resistance on Okinawa island soon because of the failure of their lines of communication.

"We made good progress considering the defenses we were up against," he said at a press conference. "If the weather doesn't impede us I think we will break the Jap resistance soon."

Truman May Visit Pacific Area Soon, Kirke Simpson Believes

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A visit of President Truman to the Pacific for a conference with American and British theater commanders seems conceivable in the light of progress of the war.

The time when major strategic decisions pre-visualized at President Roosevelt's Pearl Harbor meeting with American army, navy and air chiefs in the Pacific must be re-affirmed or brought up to date cannot be distant.

Many chapters in military history have been written since that time both in Europe and on the Pacific fronts.

Wage Increases Asked: CIO and Congressman Launch Move To Break Little Steel Formula

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Two new moves to permit general wage increases in excess of those allowed by the Little Steel formula developed today in the capital.

The CIO recommended to President Truman that a twenty per cent increase in prevailing basic wage rates be granted to restore prewar relationships between wage rates, prices and productivity per man-hour.

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) introduced a House resolution calling on the executive department to permit pay boosts up to thirty per cent of January 1, 1941 rates. The Little Steel formula limits increases to fifteen per cent.

CIO President Philip Murray told reporters after he had called on the president that immediate increases are necessary in view of an expected general reduction of working hours from forty-eight to forty per week.

"Such a policy would not require any upward price adjustment," Murray said, "nor, with proper controls, initiate any inflationary spiral. In 1944 rice levels were far enough above costs to yield $25,000,000,000 of profits before taxes. Production for war purposes has passed its peak and production for civilian purposes will be on the increase. Thus, purchasing power is declining as more goods become available for consumers."

Gearhart said rising costs of living justified higher wages and noted that the House only recently authorized a tax-free expense allowance of $2,500 for its own members.

Middle East Is Scene of Fresh Political Strife

By ROMNEY WHEELER
LONDON, May 22 (AP)—New clashes between French troops and the Syrian and Lebanese populations broke out in the middle east today as political unrest continued to spread although tension had eased at Trieste.

In the area of Europe's trouble-spot No. 1, Trieste, American and British troops of the Allied Fifteenth army group moved forward into Yugoslav-garrisoned areas north of the city and the atmosphere was relieved by a new conciliatory attitude on the part of Marshal Tito's government.

New Polish Charges

But the Polish government in London made new charges against Russia in connection with the arrest of sixteen Polish underground leaders; there was the problem of the Russian-occupied island of Bornholm in the North-western Baltic Sea. A local political group declared the "independence" of the French-speaking Aosta valley.

In the Levant states, fighting against French troops occurred throughout Syria and Lebanon although the French demands for concessions, scheduled for today, was called off as the Parliament sat in reportedly continuous session.

Break With France

(The Beirut radio said that the Lebanon government had broken off negotiations with France over the French demands for concessions and that the break has been approved by the chamber of deputies.)

(The French press agency said the Syrian and Lebanese ministers in Paris this afternoon handed a joint protest note to the French ministry of foreign affairs. The Beirut and French broadcasts were heard by the FCC.)

"Peace Agitation" Alarming Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP)—Japanese broadcasts today stressed the need for controlling "peace agitation," for a leader like Joseph Stalin and for an "inspiration" such as Sovietism to combat the empire's greatest crisis.

Naisuki Nakano, procurator-general, was quoted by the Domei news agency in one of the FCC recorded emissions as frankly admitting the growth of peace agitation x x x in a portion of the populace because of the war situation.

military strength of the Western Allies is gathering force, the final major campaign against the Japanese are just over the horizon.

Broad strategy doubtless was worked out long before Mr. Truman took the oath as president less than five weeks ago, but his active interest might lead him away from the mainland for the first time as president for a meeting face to face with the men who will strike the fatal blows.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 22 (AP)—A one-day farm and industry conference, designed for better understanding of postwar problems affecting Maryland farmers and businessmen will be held Monday in Hagerstown. Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, said today,

"The chairmen all tell me that the people are just as determined as ever, that they are well aware that we still have a big war on our hands and that they have a big job to do here at home to back up our boys before final victory brings them home to us."

Churchill Calls For an Election To End Strife

Prime Minister Stung by Belligerent Attitude of Labor Party

By ALEX SINGLETON
LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, stung by the Labor party's refusal to continue in his coalition government until the end of the Japanese war, in effect called today for a quick general election to end the present "bickering" of the British cabinet.

In a letter to Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee, Churchill mentioned no date, but he generally was expected to announce tomorrow or Thursday that he was advising the king to dissolve Parliament in three weeks, with an election to be held July 5.

Proposal Rejected

The Labor party, in convention at Blackpool, rejected yesterday Churchill's proposal that the war-born coalition stick together until victory over Japan, yet the party had desired to postpone an election ultimatum.

Churchill, taking the attitude that since the coalition would not work with him until the end of the war, he should be decided at once, said flatly that a prolonged electioneering atmosphere until autumn "might soon weaken the country before the world."

Administrative efficiency already suffering from this atmosphere, he said.

The prime minister's letter to Attlee was made public shortly after the Labor delegates had adopted a twelve-point platform aimed at the ultimate establishment of a "Socialist commonwealth of Great Britain."

Labor Program Announced

The labor program called for sweeping nationalization of Britain's industry, specifically naming coal mines, railroads and all other forms of inland transport and iron and steel.

Twenty-four types of common household goods whose shortages have irked housewives for three years were re-admitted to the use of iron and steel.

These included some items for which the metal had been prohibited entirely—washboards, dustpans, fly swatters, carpet beaters, bread boxes and canister sets.

In other cases, the relaxation of controls permits unlimited use of iron and steel on items previously restricted to amounts ranging from fifteen to seventy-five per cent of prewar use. In this group were included:

Household baking, roasting and frying pans, cake turners, egg beaters, flour sieves and food mills; carpet sweepers, and clothes wringers; garment hangers, vacuum bottles, food choppers and grinders; icecream dippers, ice picks, and

"We have already suffered several months of this suffocating atmosphere which 'I am sure is already affecting administrative efficiency.'"

The next move still appeared to be to Churchill. Presumably Attlee—when he replied that withholding the ballot until October "would mean that from now on until October outside the government and even within it we should be continually preparing for an election."

All Eggs Must Be Labeled June 1

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—All eggs must be labeled as to freshness and size beginning June 1, Russell C. Lewis of the University of Maryland's Marketing Service, said tonight.

The new requirements, resulting from amendments to the fresh egg law adopted at the last session of the legislature, require that egg cartons be labeled to give the grade and proper size classification.

At the same time, Lewis warned that the spring egg supplies would be insufficient to meet the demand.

Vocational Study Urged by O'Connor

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—"With competition much keener in the postwar period, we must see to it that more and more varied vocational education be given in our schools," Governor O'Connor told the Dundalk Parent-Teachers Association tonight.

Speaking on the general subject of postwar education in Maryland, the chief executive said a comprehensive educational system "must provide for the various needs of all youth."

A vast majority of whom enter business or industry immediately following high school graduation.

Admiral Furlong Urges Purchase Of Bonds To Keep U. S. Ships Fit

O'Connor Silent On Successor To W. C. Walsh

William Curran Indicates He Would Like To Be Attorney General

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Governor O'Connor declined comment tonight on William Curran, Baltimore city attorney and Democratic leader, as a candidate to succeed William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, as attorney general, but Curran himself said "frankly, there is an appeal in the situation."

Walsh's resignation from one of the state's highest elective positions was announced last Saturday.

In the meantime, Curran's name received mention among high Democratic leaders in the state, but his own comment today was the first formal recognition of the reported candidacy.

Asked about the matter, Curran said that "some people have been nice enough to make the suggestion, and frankly, there is an appeal in the situation and I don't want to talk about it until first discussing it with the governor."

Hammond Also Candidate

Lindsay also said he understood that Hall Hammond, deputy attorney general, also was a candidate to succeed Walsh.

House Speaker John S. White (D-Prince George's) was out of town, as was the Democratic Chairman W. Preston Lane of Hagerstown.

Governor O'Connor has given no indication of a possible successor to Walsh, who said he felt obliged to re-enter private practice of law.

Curran threw the weight of his Baltimore city organization behind O'Connor in the last gubernatorial campaign after the two Democratic factions had made peace.

Most political observers gave Curran's assistance credit for a major part in O'Connor's re-election to the governor's chair.

Older Men Will Get Deferments

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Indefinite blanket deferment of men 30 and over who remain in "useful" jobs was ordered today by Selective Service.

This liberalized policy, effective at once, results from the narrowing of the war to one front, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey announced at a news conference.

He disclosed that the draft call will be cut about twenty-five per cent to 90,000 men a month beginning in July.

But Hershey predicted at the same time that as a result of the new leniency for older men, it will be necessary to call an increasing number of occupationally deferred registrants 18 through 29.

British Bacon Ration Cut 25 Per Cent

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Minister of Food Col. J. Llewellyn told Britons today that effective next Sunday their weekly bacon ration would be cut twenty-five per cent and cooking fats fifty per cent as their part in the struggle against a world food shortage.

The news came as the United Kingdom, finished with its victory celebrations, tried to adjust itself to immediate postwar needs in Europe.

Aged Baltimore Man Found Shot to Death

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Henry Folsom, 79, was found shot to death today in a bed in the front room of his home, a bullet through his right temple and a gun on his chest, city police reported.

The body was found by Folsom's 88-year-old sister, Mary Metzger.

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today reductions in war production and lend-lease "will be possible even as we and our Allies throw augmented forces into the decisive offensives against the Japanese."

The United States, Britain and Canada are co-ordinating their reconversion plans, the president said in the nineteenth report on lend-lease operations, so their industries will share equitably in the continuing war.

"Such adjustments must remain subject of course," he said, "to the overriding consideration of maintaining the most effective flow of war supplies to win total victory over Japan."

Mr. Truman reported that the United States furnished its Allies with a total of $38,971,797,000 in goods and services under lend-lease from the time it was started, March 11, 1941, to March 31, 1945. In the same time, reverse lend-lease to this country was estimated at $4,656,315,000.

In stating that the lend-lease program has been reduced to take account of the end of European hostilities and adjusted to the new military situation, the president made no mention of Russia, which is at peace with Japan.

Enter Yonabaru In a Pre-Dawn Surprise Move

Bad Weather and Thick Mud Hamper Efforts To Advance

By LEIF ERICKSON
GUAM, Wednesday, May 23 (AP)—Veteran infantrymen of the Seventh division spent into Yonabaru, eastern anchor of the stiff Japanese line across Southern Okinawa, in a surprise pre-dawn assault yesterday and threw an encircling arm around the troubled city.

Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's crack Seventh, back in action after a two week rest, made its quick thrust against light opposition, in bad weather and thick mud. Tank support was impossible.

Reach New Heights

The infantrymen who swept around Yonabaru reached heights overlooking the towns of Riou and Itarashiku, about 1,000 yards south of Yonabaru. They were in the northern end of a long ridge line which dominates the communication road net south of embattled Shuri.

Yonabaru still was not fully captured up to last night, but the Japanese apparently did not intend to try to hold it. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today Yonabaru had been "thoroughly reduced by our gunfire and bombing."

Addition of the Seventh division to the Okinawa fighting bolstered total United States strength to five divisions—some 75,000 men, until now maximum strength has been about four divisions on the Southern Okinawa front.

Weather Slows Action

Rain and mud the past few days slowed action on the central and western sectors.

The Ninety-sixth Infantry division, which gave way on the extreme east flank to the Seventh, pressed southward from bloody Conical hill in a sector where it has been fighting a bitter hand-to-hand battle for a week clearing enemy strong points.

The success of Maj. Gen. James Bradley's Ninety-sixth in pushing the Japanese off ridges north and northwest of Shuri, cleared the way for the Seventh's spectacular thrust into Okinawa's fifth largest city, which had a prewar population of 5,000.

Japs Believed Trapped

It seemed probable some Japanese were in Okinawa's fifth largest city, which had a prewar population of 5,000.

The Seventh's thrust appeared aimed at heights dominating a key road junction in the Kamizato region, a sector where it has been fighting a bitter hand-to-hand battle for a week clearing enemy strong points.

Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, commanding the Third Marine amphibious corps, told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Hauland that "there are indications we are seeing off Japanese communications south of Shuri. When the Japs lose his communications, his forces disintegrate and he will then break into small pockets."

Montgomery Named Commander of British Occupation Forces

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill announced today the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery as commander in chief of British forces of occupation in Germany and the British member of the Allied Control Council in Germany.

The text of the announcement: "By command of the king, the prime minister announces that Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery, KCB, DSO, has been appointed commander in chief of the British forces of occupation in Germany and British member of the Allied Control Council in Germany. His chief representative for control questions will be Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks, KCB, CBE, DSO, MC."

Better Housing For Negroes Urged

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Alexander J. Allen, secretary of the Baltimore Urban League, proposed today a five-point program for improving Baltimore's negro housing and declared that "housing among negroes is a steam-headed boiler. It can be better handled before it explodes."

Four infantry divisions which will have left the continent by the end of May will include 29,500 sick and wounded, 28,000 freed American prisoners, 15,000 potential discharges, and 11,000 in redeployed troop units.

Additional shipments which will have left the continent by the end of June will include 26,500 sick and wounded, 15,000 freed American prisoners, 35,000 potential discharges and 180,000 men in redeployed troop units.

84,000 Soldiers Coming Home This Month and 250,000 More during June

By JAMES M. LONG
PARIS, May 22 (AP)—Troop shipments to the United States in June will number 250,000 compared to the 84,000 soldiers that will have left by the end of the month, an official statement said today.

Several hundred officers and men of Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army, which is being moved to the Pacific via the United States, already are enroute home.

Four infantry divisions from the European theater—the Eighty-sixth, Ninety-seventh, Ninety-fifth and One Hundred and Fourth—already have been alerted for redeployment.

Renewal of Trade Agreements Act Is Favored by Most GOP Voters

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 22.—If public opinion may be taken as a guide, traditional Republican thinking on the tariff issue, as reflected in current opposition to renewal and extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act, may be due to break down before very long.

A nation-wide survey among voters who know what the Trade Agreements act is, finds a substantial majority of best informed Republican voters in favor of renewing the life of the act. Following tradition, the best informed Democratic voters are found overwhelmingly in favor of the renewal of the act.

The bill under consideration would authorize a further reduction of tariff of not more than fifty per cent below the level of January 1, 1945.

Democrats who are familiar with the principle of reciprocal trade agreements are overwhelmingly in favor of this crucial issue of a further reduction in tariffs. Republicans who are familiar with the agreements are more evenly divided. A slight majority of those interviewed in this survey favor further reductions.

The whole question of trade agreements and tariff cuts is of course extremely complicated. For this reason, the Institute limited this survey to those familiar with the Hull agreement; that is, able to tell what they are.

The questions put to this small group which amounted to about one in ten:

"Congress has to decide whether or not to continue the trade agreements program. What do you think—should the program be continued or not?"

Replies of those included in the survey:

Should be continued 75%
Should not be continued 7
Undecided 18

"Would you approve or disapprove using this program to get further reductions of tariffs in both the United States and other countries?"

Approve 57%
Disapprove 20
No Opinion 23

THERE WAS PEACE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—All day the fog had sneaked its way through Chinatown's narrow, twisted alleys, coiling around the bronze dragons, the tiled roofs and gilded balconies. All day the gulls had dived and dipped with their creaking cry through the masking mist.

Then, with the afternoon, strange happenings began. Out of the hundred hideaways, mansions or dumps, muted shadows slipped and faded, heading noiselessly toward the proud portals which house the headquarters of the Chinese Six Companies. A strange place, this—looming darkly above cobbled gutters and secret courts, but inwardly ablaze with ancient carvings, flaming brocades and golden altars.

Always incense wafted before the pedestaled gods and jeweled images. But today it rose in clouds and mingling with it, the flat, walling rhythm of strange drums and cymbals and simpering flutes. Over all, another sound rose and fell, bell-like in its sing-song resonance—the sound of two men praying to their alien gods.

praying in reverence and loving tribute to a man of another faith, yet who had been their friend, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

To the passing tourist, neither scent nor sound may have seemed memorable. Actually history was made in that murmurous darkness. For the first time in San Francisco's Chinatown the Orient, in all its pomp and power, paid tribute to a Caucasian.

Never before had East met West in such open, common grief and gratitude. I do not know what ancient rites the Rev. T. T. Taam performed before the great, crepe-draped portrait of the man so many loved nor what W. S. Doon, President of the Six Companies, said in his invocation. I only know that for a space, affection and faith and respect broke down the age old barriers of suspicion and national intolerance. And man met man.

These men had not come for a ceremonial gesture. They were not bowing to a name, a position or a great power. They were praying for a man who had dared to believe in and invoke the one force mightier than any other on earth—the force of brotherhood.

Their ways were not his ways. Their traditions were alien to his, and the names of their gods were not the same. But for that moment, when time stood still, such differences did not matter. For that moment, facing the awful mystery of death, crouching beneath the crueler mystery of life, they reached and found each other—they were one.

And the fog swept on and the sea-gulls cried and the drums pulsed in the dark. And two grieving men prayed and, for a space, they found peace.

Beatrice Fairfax Declares Humans Are Like Lemmings

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

People have wondered why lemmings—little mouse-like creatures in Scandinavian countries—are impelled by some unaccountable instinct, ever so often, to proceed in a straight line to the sea, into which they plunge and are drowned on mass suicide.

Equally hard to understand are people who, with lemming-like instinct, plunge to destruction—powerless to save themselves. They know these human lemmings, what is happening. They see fate as inevitably as the condemned man walking from the death cell to the execution chamber. Yet they keep on.

Siren Enters Picture

The morning's mail brings a letter from a woman who has a husband of this type. In their thirties, they'd been married for a number of years and were ideally happy. Almost daily, he assured her how fortunate they'd been in their choice, and he looked forward to continued happiness 'til death would part them.

Out of the blue there appeared a woman who had had a good deal of history—three marriages, three divorces, and many excursions into romance. Soon this ideal husband, to the amazement of their friends, was following the siren as blindly as the lemming make for the sea. Even in his pursuit he wasn't happy. His wife offered him a divorce which he declined, telling her he knew he was going to the devil but couldn't help himself.

Refuge in Drink Follows

The next step was refuge in drink; the loss of an excellent position threatened him. Yet he lacked the will power to save himself. The wife continued to keep house in the old home where they had been so happy, but the husband was seldom there. Meals were untouched. To save her reason, the woman felt she must take a job and leave the haven which had become a place of horror, but she had become ill through anxiety and unhappiness from seeing her husband brooding when he was home, declining to take the divorce she offered.

The siren had no intention of making this once-decent man her fourth husband. She was like the daughter of the horse-leech, crying "Give, give." And while there was yet something to give she would not loose her hold.

The strange thing about this case is that the man understands. He sees only destruction ahead, but, like the lemmings on their mysterious trek to the sea, he keeps on blindly.

"I'm planning for 'peace and quiet' in my kitchen —with Gas refrigeration"

"You see, I'm doing some post-war planning of my own—starting with the kitchen. The very first improvement there will be a new Gas refrigerator as soon after the war as I can get my hands on one. I'm determined to be free of noise and the nuisance of repairs—not to mention the cost!

"All my friends, who have Gas refrigeration now, make me simply green with envy when they talk—and how they talk—about its silence and how seldom it needs repairs—some say never! They explain that this is all because it hasn't got one moving part in its freezing system, so there's just nothing to wear or make it cost more to operate as it gets older.

"That's the kind of 'peace and quiet' I want in my kitchen some day."

It's no exaggeration to say that thousands of our customers would like to change to Gas refrigeration now—to the refrigerator that pays for itself out of savings. They know, however, that none are available at present—for the skill and materials to make them have war jobs for the time being. But shortly, these efficient and beautiful appliances will be back again—finer than ever.

Keep in touch with your Dealer for information on the silent and trouble-proof Gas refrigerator in which a tiny gas flame does all the work.

An Important Change In the Treaty Change

WHILE the chances of changing the method of ratifying treaties now prescribed by the federal constitution appears to have been adversely affected by the unfortunate Russian course with regard to the effort to form a world security organization, its prospects for continuing in the future are not as bleak as they appear. The proposed amendment has been put under way with adoption by the House of Representatives by the large majority of 288 to 88.

The measure provides that treaties may be ratified by a majority of both branches of the Congress instead of by two-thirds of the Senate as now prescribed. There has been an important revision of the original proposal and of the existing method. At present a treaty may be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the senators present, but under the bill adopted by the House the requirement is for a majority of the whole membership and not just those present.

This was brought about by the inclusion of a definition as to just what a "majority" shall mean. Ordinarily a majority means a majority of a quorum present, but as defined it is to be as previously noted. The difference, as Mark Sullivan points out, is decidedly material.

"A quorum of the House is a majority of the House," he explains. "And a majority of a quorum is merely a majority of a majority. In figures, a majority of the House is 218 out of a total membership of 435, and this constitutes a quorum. A majority of this quorum would be only 110. Hence ordinary legislation can be passed by the votes of 110 members. But the provision now inserted in the proposed constitutional amendment means that to ratify a treaty a majority of the whole membership of the House—that is, 218—is required."

"In the Senate the proportions are the same. A quorum of the Senate is forty-nine out of the total membership of ninety-six, and a majority of this quorum—that is, twenty-five senators—can pass ordinary legislation. But, as provided in the proposed constitutional amendment, a majority of the whole Senate, or forty-nine, would be required to ratify a treaty."

Sullivan says that the membership requirement provided in the amendment is a change from the vote for it having been 119 to 32, and it was generally agreed that only by inserting the provision was it possible for the proposal for the amendment to pass in the House.

There will be plenty of time to debate the merits and demerits of the proposed change as all three steps in the process of adopting a constitutional amendment must be followed and these will take time and provide ample opportunity for discussion. The first step, which has already been taken, is approval of the proposal by a two-thirds vote of the House. The second is approval of the Senate by a two-thirds vote, which is by no means assured. The final step is approval by three-fourths of the states. It is a slow process usually taking considerable time—the repeal of the prohibition amendment, however, was speeded up—but that is the way the Founding Fathers wisely planned it.

The New Republican Publicity Chief

SELECTION of William C. Murphy, Jr., Washington newspaper correspondent, as publicity director of the Republican National Committee appears to have met with general approval of party leaders and members over the country. Chief of the Washington bureau of the "Philadelphia Inquirer" since 1937, Murphy has had twenty-five years of political reporting in Washington and has won high regard for fairness and accuracy. He is a former president of the National Press Club and was recently elected vice president of the White House Correspondents Association. Party members in Congress are particularly delighted over his appointment.

In announcing the appointment, Herbert Brownell, Jr., national party chairman, said that it "signals the opening of the drive to return constitutional government to the country, to restore control of our government to the American people," and indicated that he regarded the campaign to win the 1946 congressional elections as "only preparatory to the election of a Republican president in 1948."

Murphy's post is perhaps the most important aside from the chairmanship in the prosecution of the new full-time program so wisely adopted by the national committee. With this good start party members hereabout, and doubtless those elsewhere throughout the country, will hope that Brownell and Murphy will develop the work of information and persuasion constructively and without resort to the old-time partisan floundering that made a lot of noise but produced incommensurate results. In short, the new appeal should be to reason rather than to emotion and prejudices.

Much Too Close For Comfort

LESSONS from the great war in Europe are still being drawn. Many will be found as further disclosures come to light about the German plans for prosecuting it and it is only to be hoped that due profit will result therefrom in the interest of future peace. Enough has come to hand, however, to cause shudders among Allied people over how close Germany came to probably winning the war, or at the least prolonging it indefinitely.

For example, the details are now being published about the German "rocket" weapon, V-3, with which the Nazis had planned to destroy London and other cities of importance to the Allies.

V-3, or a "multiple artillery" weapon, as Prime Minister Churchill described it, was almost ready for use against England when Allied troops overran the launching sites on the continent. It was a long-range rocket with a forty-pound explosive head designed to be fired from a 400-foot-long smoothbore barrel which was buried beyond possibility of air damage in the chalk cliffs of France.

Invading Allied troops discovered fifty of these barrels almost ready for use. They were provided with amply protected, subterranean barracks and handling rooms and with standard-gauge locomotive tracks to maintain the ammunition supply. The firing devices already had been aimed at London and authorities believe the completed batteries could have showered the British capital with explosives at the rate of ten shells a minute.

Other large emplacements, apparently for different types of rocket weapons, likewise were taken before the Germans could use them for the intended purpose of destroying English industrial centers.

One can only hazard a guess as to how long the British could have withstood the terrible destruction of these devices, how long, if they had been successful there, it might have been before they launched these weapons against the United States, how much longer the Nazis would have been enabled to continue their aggression.

But enough of a lesson has come from these V-3 rocket weapons to impress again, with increased emphasis, the dire necessity for organizing a world security council to the end that future wars, with their catastrophic potentialities, may be prevented.

Time To Start Getting Orders

NO TOURIST TRAVEL to the European continent can yet be approved, nor may individuals go for personal reasons, but the State department is doing a good turn to American business men by lifting the travel bars against them. The United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce informs American business that ample passenger space is now available for their representatives to make the ocean trip to the liberated areas. It is anticipated, in addition, that seats will soon be available on 800 transport planes which will be used to bring some of the troops back to this country.

The State department is granting clearance to "every one with a good business reputation and a bank balance." Europe needs American goods and now is the time to start taking the orders. If American business is permitted to get an equal start in the great postwar economic readjustment, foreign markets will stand the country in good stead in the years after the domestic postwar boom subsides.

Farm Land Warning Should Be Heeded

THE AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION is the latest organization to take up a banner against inflationary prices for farm lands. It has sent a warning to banks in rural areas to follow conservative lending policies in an effort to check a land boom which is getting under way in many parts of the country. Land prices are up fifty-two per cent above prewar level as a national average.

What is especially alarming is the fact that purchases in many instances are for speculative purposes. In the land boom following World War I investors were confined almost entirely to farmers. When prices of crops dropped, many farmers were in trouble. The country should profit from that disastrous experience.

THE ART OF ADJUSTMENT

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The history of every human life indeed of every nation, is that of adjusting itself to constantly changing circumstances and conditions. Now, more than at any other time in human history, are we called upon to adjust our lives.

The soldier who returns to his home will look upon the world that he left behind with a different eye. It won't look the same as it did when he left. He will have brought back with him a new world, and it won't be easy for him to settle down in it. A great period of adjustment will be needed.

For years the nations of the world will be called upon to make adjustments. And it will take all the art and patience and self-control that our great leaders have to bring about justice and sanity in the world. For one thing, hate must be buried forever. Nothing was ever settled with it, or by it.

Both nations and individuals are periodically acquainted with many a defeat, and after each one there have come adjustments. And these become the test of character in each case. Nothing is ever gained by nurturing bitterness or regrets. It is essential to take the high road back after traveling the low road, else new perspective is ever gained. And it's this new perspective that must be secured.

When sorrow and disappointment come, a great cloud of despair seems to settle about one, but this cloud in time passes, as all things pass. Hope is eternal. With faith, courage and patience, one can make adjustments. And this cloud gradually breaks away, leaving the former blue sky, with the gold of the sun bringing warmth and assurance to the broken and bereaved. Belief in the goodness and wisdom of God adjusts all things, both great and small.

This thing of adjustment comes to us all in our daily lives at home, in our offices, and in all the affairs of our lives, it comes as a challenge. Meeting it without fear, we experience the thrill of the triumphant life.

Opinion by Justice Jackson on Enforced German Labor Upsets Reparation Plans

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Officials are keeping very mum about it, but the entire question of using German prisoner labor to rebuild Russia and France has been thrown into a new controversy by a secret opinion rendered by Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, who has taken over United States prosecution of war criminals.

Justice Jackson wrote his opinion to United States Reparations Chief Ed Pauley, stating that in his opinion compulsory German labor should not be used to rebuild France and Russia unless they have been convicted of war crimes.

"It is not my business what is to be done with reparations," Jackson wrote, "but this would largely destroy the moral position of America in this war. . . . Compulsory labor," he continued, "should be required only for convicted war criminals."

Justice Jackson went on to point out that German labor "drifting out of Russian concentration camps in the future would tell tales of horror which even if exaggerated, would arouse sharp condemnation in the United States." He urged, therefore, that German labor not be used for reparations until they had been convicted of war crimes. He indicated that members of the Gestapo and the SS Elite Guard, undoubtedly were war criminals as a class, but that every member of the Nazi party might not be classified as a war criminal.

Following Justice Jackson's bombshell, a hurried meeting was called in Secretary Morgenthau's office, attended by Ed Pauley, Assistant Secretary of State Wm. Clayton, the army, navy, FEA, and other interested government agencies. Secretary Morgenthau vigorously protested this new development. It was pointed out by some that the use of German prisoner labor had been agreed to at Yalta by President Roosevelt himself and, therefore, could not be changed.

"If we have to wait for the conviction of all these war criminals before we can get German labor," suggested Reparations Chief Pauley, "we may have to wait a year. Meanwhile, there may not be enough Germans to repair the damage in France and Russia."

Pauley also made the point that he had been charged by the president with the handling of reparations and, therefore, would have to make the final decision himself after his arrival in Europe. After further discussion, however, Pauley agreed to accept Justice Jackson's opinion in principle, namely, that only convicted war criminals could be used as prisoner labor. This leaves the whole question pretty much in the air. However, it has been hinted that Justice Jackson will endeavor to indict groups of Germans as a class. The men, taking advantage of the Gestapo as a group, not individually, and decide that every member of the Gestapo automatically is a war criminal. This probably will be done with Hitler's SS Elite corps. Whether a blanket indictment will also be lodged against the Nazi party remains to be seen.

One incident occurring aboard the stricken airplane carrier Franklin during its rescue seemed trivial on the surface but might have resulted in serious tragedy. It was the landing of some officers' uniforms on the carrier. The uniforms, which were to be used for the carrier, were found to be contaminated with poison gas. The uniforms were thrown overboard.

Just about this time, the carrier was hit and became a mass of flames. Later, when the cruiser Santa Fe pulled alongside to help, the men in officers' uniforms, who had just appeared on deck, jumped from the Franklin to the Santa Fe. Others, seeing these supposed officers jump, thought word had been given to abandon ship, and they began leaving the Franklin wholesale. This largely accounted for the great number of men who jumped to the Santa Fe or into the water.

Training Films Destroyed
The army doesn't want it known, but it has a new way of handling the type of surplus property. In the case of training and orientation films, it burns old prints. According to a survey made by movie experts, old films last summer were being burned at the rate of 225 tons weekly at Astoria, N. Y.

Meanwhile other government agencies, schools and universities are anxious to buy these outmoded prints from the army. In fact, the United States Office of Transportation had to spend $60,000 of the taxpayers' money to make ten reels of its own when the army refused to sell it the army's existing films. It is true, some of the films dealt with such technical subjects as secret new weapons, so naturally could not be given to the public, but many others dealt with training mechanics, storekeepers, clerks and woodworkers.

But the army and university service seem determined that these films shall not pass from their hands. Organizations asking to purchase films dealing with these subjects have been told either that there are no surplus prints, or that clearance for general use is not obtainable. Some films, it is true, contain copyrighted music or feature well-known stars. But men in the trade estimate that ninety per cent of the films which would be useful to civilians would require no special clearance, and that clearance could easily be obtained for the other ten per cent. They recall that Col. Frank Capra's famous "Prelude to War" and "Battle of Russia" were given universal clearance, yet the army refuses to sell prints of these films to 16-millimeter distributors. Meanwhile Herman Wober and Morris Caplan, civilian movie experts assigned by the War department to do a special survey, have submitted a secret report that at Astoria, N. Y., last summer the army burnt an average of 125,000 feet of film per week.

India and Poland
San Francisco's hills are full of Indian lobbyists and journalists who have succeeded in putting British diplomats into political corners during the United Nations conference.

One of them, Anup Singh, editor of "Voice of India," spoke up at Anthony Eden's press conference while the British foreign minister was complaining that the arrest of sixteen Polish leaders was preventing settlement of the critical Polish question.

"If that is true, Mr. Minister," asked Anup Singh, "if it is really true that the arrest of sixteen Poles is obstructing the settlement of the Polish question, then isn't the arrest of thousands of Indian leaders by the British obstructing settlement of the Indian question?"

Eden made no reply but joined in the laughter.

Bretton Woods High Pressure
Though the very important Bretton Woods agreement seems likely to get congressional approval, opposition by the American Banking Association's top policy-settlers continues.

Recently Henry Bristol, president of Bristol-Myers, Emmett McGorrick, of the Moore-McCormack steamship lines; Louis Sacher, of Reliance Textile Company, and Walter H. Wheeler, Jr., of the Pitney-Bowes Postal Meter Company, helped send telegrams to several hundred business men urging them to declare themselves for the Bretton Woods agreement. Next day each of these executives received calls from their New York bankers, who made it plain that they did not care for pro-Bretton Woods activities.

Mysterious Russian Death
Moscow has announced that it will investigate the mysterious Mexican airplane crash which killed Russian Ambassador Constantin Oumansky. He was the most popular ambassador in Mexico City and was the focal point for successful Soviet propaganda in Latin America.

While Moscow is probing the crash, here is another mystery. Ambassador Oumansky was killed at 5 p. m. Jan. 25 of this year. On the afternoon of Jan. 24, in New York, Wladyslaw Nemman, Polish minister to Mexico, suddenly dropped dead. He had been assigned to Mexico City for a year and a half previously. Wonder if there were any connection between the two?

Lawrence Praises American Group At San Francisco

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, May 22—Almost the first question heard here on returning from San Francisco is "what kind of a delegation is representing the United States at the United Nations conference?"

The answer is that in no world conference in my own recollection has the United States been represented as well. This is due to a variety of reasons but primarily to President Truman's good sense in placing the responsibility squarely on the American delegation to advise him upon concrete matters for final decision instead of trying himself to formulate the policies at long range.

It is also due to the good sense of the secretary of State, Edward Stettinius, who does not approach the work of the delegation with preconceived notions about personal publicity or exploitation. If anything, the secretary might be criticized for being over-modest and over-cautious in seeking the detailed views of every one of his colleagues before arriving at a conclusion. This takes time, but no one can say we have had a one-man show in San Francisco or a rubber-stamp or someone in Washington to utilize.

Three Play Leading Part
Obviously the strength of the delegation is in the ability and keenness of Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, and former Governor Harold Stassen, of Minnesota, coupled with the common sense and wise counsel of Senator Connally, of Texas. This is not to say the other members of the delegation are not playing a useful and helpful part, for they do, but the brunt of the work has fallen upon those named.

Outstanding behind the delegation, however, is one figure who doesn't appear in the headlines, but to him more than any one man goes the credit for steering the American delegation through many difficult situations. He is John Foster Dulles, perhaps the best trained and experienced man in international law and world affairs in the entire group of forty-nine delegations. It was a master stroke of Mr. Stettinius to choose Mr. Dulles to accept the inconspicuous post of adviser, and it would be about the best thing that could possibly happen to the evolution of American foreign policy in the critical years ahead if the president could find some way to preserve the team of Stettinius and Dulles.

Capable Organizer
The members of the delegation say privately that Mr. Stettinius has proved himself an extraordinarily capable manager and that his organizing genius is something that the department of State should not lose. Yet it has been predicted by nearly all the correspondents that some change in the secretaryship of State might be made when the conference is concluded. When, however, an effort is made to mention someone who has the organizing ability of Stettinius, so vitally needed in an expanding State department, and also the diplomatic background which Mr. Stettinius lacks the solution is not readily found.

The name most often mentioned for secretary of State is that of James F. Byrnes. He, however, is advanced in years and is said not to be in the best of health. Perhaps the best thing Mr. Truman could do would be to keep Secretary Stettinius on the job and put in either Mr. Dulles or someone of his training in European affairs alongside as undersecretary of State. The experience of Mr. Grew, the present undersecretary, will be needed in the delicate Far Eastern problems that lie ahead, and he ought to be permitted to concentrate on that field without being burdened with all the difficult European situations that the department of State must also face in the future.

Needed at Conference
It would be a good thing, too, when President Truman goes abroad to meet Messrs. Stalin and Churchill, if he took along Senators Connally and Vandenberg and Mr. Dulles, for it will be hard to keep out of the pitfalls that must inevitably be encountered unless Mr. Truman has at his elbow the men who have learned first-hand at San Francisco something about the conflicting currents of world affairs in these critical times. It would be fine if he could keep Commander Stassen, too, though he is reported to be anxious to get back with Admiral Halsey's fleet for the decisive operations of the war with Japan.

The San Francisco conference has brought out clearly the main outlines of American policy that will be guiding us in the many strained situations that are likely to develop soon. The most significant achievement, of course, is our close relations with the Latin-American countries, and in that field the skill and magnetic personality of Nelson Rockefeller, assistant secretary of State, has been an invaluable factor in keeping high the prestige of the United States at the San Francisco conference. It is in the realm of European affairs that the department of State needs more personnel and more trained diplomats.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE
I've decided to sponsor a big nation-wide contest. All you have to do to enter is write a short essay entitled, "What Happened to Hitler?"

Rumors about Shickleguber's fate are as thick as musciars at a free smorgasbord. A man in Lansing, Mich., claims that Hitler is hiding under his front porch and keeps his family awake nights by imitating the kalediscs. Others in unnumbered hidey-holes have announced that Dr. Fuhrer is definitely dead because of (a) a brain hemorrhage, (b) being head cheerleader for a suicide campaign, (c) turning his back on Himmler, (d) eating too much weinerschnitzel, etc.

Other equally well-informed sources tell us that D. F. is positively alive and has (a) gone underground, (b) escaped to Spain and is trying to get back in the paper hanger's union, (c) just stepped out for a cup of coffee, etc.

However, I personally have the real low-down from a very reliable, unquestionably authentic, secret source . . . my butcher. He says that in reality Hitler was assassinated by Rudolph Hess who mistook him for Hitler's double, in reality a Prussian plumber named Kleinschmidt who had a double who doubled as a double for Himmler who was really Hitler who . . . oh, well, what are your ideas? Write them down on an old shoe coupon and mail them to me immediately.

And if you can't think of any new ones, just snail me the shoe coupon . . . I need a new pair of oxfords.

State Socialism Idea Is Not Dead, Pettengill Warns

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The erroneous idea is taking root that the struggle to preserve America from European state socialism has been won. Some, in fact, are saying that Truman is a "Democratic Colidge," or the "white man's Lincoln."

With the best will in the world, President Truman could not win the battle for America alone. His test is to come. The irrepressible conflict between the Jeffersonian South and the Hillman northern bloc is simply postponed.

If we would once get our bomb-sights over the right spot, and keep them there, we could keep America American. We can not, however, discount a strong minority group who work while sleep. Military victory has given Russian communism immense prestige. Communist flags fly in every country of Europe. The propagandists of Stalin are busy in Mexico City, in Havana, and throughout Latin America.

Canada Swings Leftward
In Canada, the left wing C.C.F. is driving toward almost total socialism. The province of Alberta, which dived overboard into social welfare under Premier Aberhart, has defaulted on its public debt—a hint of what can happen anywhere when the tax load gets too heavy.

The C.I.O. formed an alliance in London recently with government dominated Russian labor to organize a world-wide workers front. The C.I.O. and the National Farmers Union are teaming up in a "total war of issues" in which they propose to defeat next year every senator who opposed Aubrey Williams and Henry Wallace. Since Mr. Roosevelt's death, the Dunn statistical survey has predicted that unless new forces become operative, the House of Representatives will go farther to the left in the congressional elections in 1946.

Ruthless Government Induced
War is nearly always the foe of liberty. Nearly two trillion dollars have been spent in reducing Europe to ruin. The labor of centuries toward civilization, and the dignity and independence of men has been undone. All this leads toward big and ruthless government. "It is hard for an empty sack to stand upright." Scarcely a European share of stock, government bond, or insurance policy is worth the paper it is written on. Millions of homes are destroyed, families scattered, the cement of society broken.

Our own debt and tax load is, and will be, colossal. Only the most prudent management of our financial ces can hold back the tides that are engulfing the world. Despite this, the postwar pressures for continued spending will be tremendous. Left wingers are flooding the country with a program which could only be financed by adding at least another hundred billion dollars to the debt, with ruinous inflation at the end of that train.

Today, the federal government is the master of our ocean shipping. It has twenty billion dollars invested in manufacturing. It owns a land area as large as everything east of the Mississippi, except Florida. It proposes to go further in the light and power industry with T.V.A.'s in every large watershed. More spending. More debt.

Many Things Dominated
The federal colossus dominates agriculture, banking, credit, foreign trade, stock and commodity exchanges; the radio is capitulating to it; and by gift, grant, loan and subsidy there is not a city hall, court house or business in America that is wholly free from its control.

The Washington bureaucracy now counts on 12,000,000 votes. When the electorate and job-holders become identical, free elections become a myth. The job-holders will not vote themselves out of "the silver pigsty." As Comptroller General Lindsay Warren (Dem.) says, "It will take a meat axe." The common man has been sold the idea that he is thoroughly incompetent and must tax himself to hire bureaucrats to manage himself.

This is no time to stack arms. We now find ourselves in the underdog of European big-game water. As Dr. Virgil Jordan says, the "reconversion" of America's mind and spirit to the principles of freedom is the great task before us. President Truman's instinctive Americanism has its roots in the great Mississippi valley. But the collectivists are mobilizing to push his administration far to the left. The thrifty middle class Americans must show the same energy, organizing ability and drive. This is a war of ideas. The active usurp the rights of the inactive.

DELEGATES TO VFW SESSIONS MUST MAKE OWN RESERVATIONS

Delegates of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, this city, must make their own hotel reservations in Baltimore for the twenty-fifth annual Maryland department encampment June 22, 23 and 24, according to a letter received yesterday by Thomas K. Whalley, adjutant, from Moe Himelfarb, chairman of the encampment committee.

It is impossible to get large blocks of reservations due to the crowded conditions of hotel and rooming house and all delegates of visiting posts will be required to make their own arrangements either through some other source or upon their arrival in Baltimore, Himelfarb said.

Henry Hart Post is entitled to eighty-five delegates and a total of ninety-eight votes, including those of ten past commanders, the present commander, district commander and department officer.

The local post is the largest in the state with a total membership of 1,281. The membership a year ago was 688.

Headquarters for the silver anniversary encampment will be in the Emerson hotel.

Guardmen To Have Communications Demonstration

A demonstration of communications will be held during the drill period of Companies C and D, Maryland State Guard, tonight and will be under the direction of Capt. Marlin H. Thurmond, executive officer of the guard's Eighth battalion.

The demonstration will be held in three classes, one to be devoted to the lettering system, time system and message writing, a second to the phonetic alphabet, pronunciation, numerals, telephone procedure, field telephone, telephone switch board, and the third to semaphore signaling, light signaling and radio.

All members of both companies are urged to be present.

Street Paving Ordinance Passes Second Reading

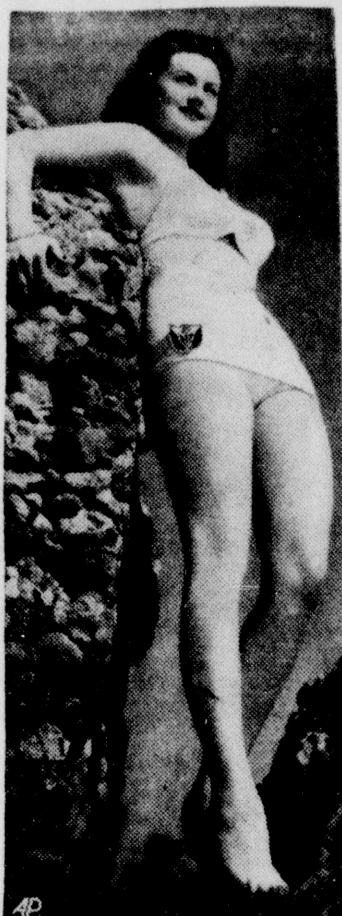

At Monday's meeting of the mayor and city council an ordinance providing notice that an ordinance to pave Holland street will be introduced June 11, passed its second reading.

Final passage will not be possible until next Monday. The ordinance was opposed by Mayor Thomas S. Post and Commissioner William E. McDonald.

In answer to a question by Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich, Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said that nothing can be done by the council in regard to the Civil Service Commission report that the suspension of Patrolman Edward P. Wilson has been reduced from sixty to thirty days.

The council agreed to contribute $100 to the Allegany county fund

Ministers' Group Will Hold Annual Election June 18

The Ministerial Association met Monday at the Central YMCA with the Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, Jr., presiding and appointing the Rev. William A. Eisenberger, the Rev. Arthur Scrogum and the Rev. J. William Merchant as a nominating committee. The election of officers will be held at the meeting June 18. Plans for a Standard Leadership Training school were outlined by the Rev. Ray L. Henthorne, chairman. He announced that the Rev. Charles M. LeFevre was selected dean of the school by the Curriculum and Faculty committee. The school will have courses for departmental teachers and in addition four or five elective courses for Sunday school and church workers. September 30 to October 5 was set as the tentative date for the school. The next general meeting of the committee will be held at 6:30 o'clock June 28 at Central YMCA.

The ministers were urged to cooperate with the Anti-Inflation committee and use their influence to fight inflation, and especially the food black market. Lloyd Rawlings, president of the Y, spoke regarding Y day June 6, when the 101 anniversary will be observed. He asked the ministers to stress it in their churches between June 3 and 10. After his talk the association went on record as approving his suggestion and to stress the value of the Y to the community. The Rev. Mr. LeFevre was asked to arrange that the cards provided by the association and informing the minister that a member of his congregation is a patient in a hospital, are available to the patients. Devotionals on the theme, "All things work together for good to them who love the Lord and are called according to His purpose," was given by the Rev. S. R. Neel.

Speaking on "Y Youth Problems" Robert L. Sisson, secretary of the Y, stressed the fact that the American home is the greatest single force in the development of civilization, for "as goes the home, so goes the nation." He pointed out that respect and discipline must be taught in the child in the home, as well as responsibility as a member of the family, duties and the value of money. He also urged that it is essential that parents are "pals" to their children and confidants for difficulties.

Religious training must also begin in the home, the speaker said and is augmented by the church and other kindred influences. Pointing out the economic causes for troubles with youth Mr. Sisson listed them as "depression influences," including a father on relief, and the desire for better living, as contrasted in war boom influences, when the father is serving in the armed forces or working in a war plant, the mother is also working and has no time for the children and the youngsters are also earning big wages.

Other problems of youth are educational, the speaker pointed out and include inferior teachers because of inadequate salaries, unsuitable courses and pressure from the parents; he concluded with the social environment, listing the problems of crowded conditions, moral letdown, bad companions and lack of proper youth centers.

"UNBLOCK" YOUR DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation. In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.

Thus, what you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—you want something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out thoroughly and help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They go to work and thoroughly "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it—and you get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

get one before me?"

PERHAPS HIS telephone was needed for the war effort, public health, welfare and security, which, for good reason and by Government order, must be installed promptly.

Or perhaps he had had service elsewhere and the new telephone, in fact, was moved from another address in the same town.

Maybe there was serious illness in his home or some other condition that justified the Government to make a rare exception to the rule that residence telephone services shall be installed in their proper turn as facilities become available.

You may rest assured no telephone service will be installed ahead of another except as required by the Government's conservation order or as facilities may become available at one place sooner than at another, and no application will be forgotten.

40-Year-Old GI's Will Be Discharged

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — GI's 40 years old or more now are eligible for discharge if they apply for it. The War department has announced this, barely a month after an earlier decision to allow those over 42 years to leave service. Moreover, a further reduction in the age level is in prospect, the department said, but explained that for the present it is holding to the 40 year level because release of men younger than that would jeopardize operations and slow down the release of combat veterans under the point system of discharge.

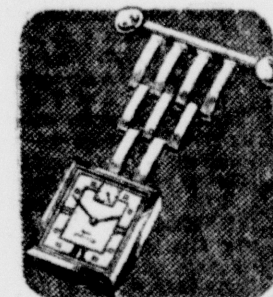

American life insurance companies last year paid or credited to policyholders and beneficiaries, through direct benefits or additions to policy reserves and surplus, ten per cent more than they received in premiums from policyholders.

WIFE ASKS COURT TO DISMISS SUIT OVER PROPERTIES

Asking dismissal of a suit filed by her husband, Richard C. Simmons on May 1, Mrs. Sofia R. Simmons, Bedford street, has filed an answer to his charges in circuit court, and denies that he has any legal claim to properties she says she purchased in recent years.

Simmons, represented by Edward J. Ryan, charged that his wife and her daughter, Edith Currence, were attempting to defraud him of his interest in some local properties.

Mrs. Simmons, through her attorneys, F. Brooke Whiting and William M. Somerville, declared that she bought the property at 22-24 Bedford street in 1939, paying $6,000 for it from her own earnings, and also paying $3,200 for property at 217-223 Elder street. The daughter, now residing in Elkins, W. Va., once worked at a local plant and deposited part of her earnings in a bank here, Mrs. Simmons stated. Simmons had asked that a trustee be named for the properties and bank account, contending that he was entitled to a share since his money also was used in the purchase. He said it was understood the properties and money were to be held jointly.

Truman Is Said To Be Planning Some Long Trips

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Truman will follow in the footsteps of Franklin D. Roosevelt as a great traveler if he goes all the places being added to his potential schedule.

It was strongly indicated today that he might look in on the San Francisco World Organization Conference before it winds up. A caller also quoted him as expressing the hope he could find time to visit the annual Governors' Conference at Mackinac Island, Mich., July 2-4.

Other business that may call the president away from Washington:

Other Proposed Trips

1. A meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin, date and place to be determined, to discuss peace problems.

2. A conference with General Charles DeGaulle, head of the French provisional government, time and location also yet to be determined.

3. A voyage to Manila for the inauguration of the Independent Republic of the Philippines, whenever that is created. The president has said he hopes to be able to accept the invitation of President Sergio Osmena to attend this ceremony.

In addition, the president plans a quick trip to North Carolina in October to address a special session of the state Senate. He has promised Representative Doughton (D-N.C.) that he would make this journey.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told reporters today there were no developments on the impending Big Three or DeGaulle meetings. But when asked about the reports that the president might go to San Francisco to close the world security conference Ross said significantly:

"I can't talk about that at the moment."

When a reporter recalled that Mr. Truman had said he would not go to San Francisco because his business was "right here," Ross said the chief executive merely had said he would not "open" the conference.

YOUTH, 16, HELD AFTER SERVICE STATION ROBBERY

Police arrested a boy, 16, yesterday and are holding him in connection with a robbery early yesterday morning of the Davis service station, Virginia avenue.

Approximately $16 in cash and three or four hundred gallons worth of ration coupons were stolen. The boy had part of the loot when taken into custody at 8 a. m.

Officer A. A. Williams discovered an open window in the rear of the station at 3 a. m. and called Lt. J. E. Van. The station had been ransacked, the cash drawer broken open and papers and records strewn about. The property is owned by Mayor Thomas S. Post.

An attempted robbery of the Gulf service station, Green and South Lee streets, was unsuccessful last night since the intruders were not able to break through the heavy wire screen which covers the windows.

Thundershower And Windstorm Hit Cumberland

A short but hard thundershower hit Cumberland yesterday afternoon and strong winds that followed it blew down trees and tore limbs from others, but police said there were no reports of serious damage.

Limbs were blown from trees in many parts of the city and a similar condition prevailed in sections of the county.

A large tree was blown across Vocke drive, blocking the road to traffic, but county roads employees removed it after being notified by state police.

Contributions totaling $500 have been received in the drive to raise funds to send 100 members of the Cumberland Police Boys to the Central YMCA camp at the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area, Garrett county, for one week the latter part of July.

It will take $1,000 to pay the expenses of 100 boys for a single week at camp and promoters of the drive are now seeking an additional $500 to attain the goal.

Contributions are being received by Mrs. Nat Gruenheimer, treasurer, at the J. Bernstine Furniture Company, 9 North Centre street.

At 5 p. m., Tomb will address the industrial committee of the "Y," comprising Edward R. Allan, chairman, Roy W. Eves and John F. Rodman.

Presbyterian Piles Up 57-3 Score in Loop Tilt

First Presbyterian tossers set some sort of a record yesterday when they staged a marathon to overwhelm

First Baptist, 57-3, in a Central Y. C. A. Sunday School Softball League game. The contest, a playoff of a postponed engagement, started around 6 o'clock and wasn't completed until nearly 9 o'clock.

Jackson Wants Truman To Name Food Director

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Former Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore urged today in a telegram to Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the National Democratic Committee that President Truman appoint immediately a competent man to take full charge of the critical food situation.

"I am more convinced than ever," Jackson wired, "that the president should take immediate action. There are too many agencies dealing with foods of all kinds. No one knows better than you and the president how public sentiment is created both favorably and unfavorably and how a man in high office depends on the feeling back home."

"People are willing to sacrifice. They are willing to do without food if absolutely necessary. People come in contact with food. It is the matter of food or any other government matters can be handled efficiently through twenty or more agencies with divided responsibilities."

Jackson also said he had been in touch with Hannegan about the tax situation.

When in contact with the mayor has advocated that the whole tax structure be revamped and a way found to reduce the burden both on business and individuals.

Mrs. Norma Combs has returned from visiting relatives at Moorefield, Md., where she was a patient for several weeks.

Mrs. William Michael, Baltimore, is here visiting her daughter and mother.

Mrs. Stanley Turley, who was stationed in Germany, is now reported missing in action. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moreland, Scherr, and went into service last

WORKSHOP TOOLS ARE BADLY NEEDED AT BAKER HOSPITAL

Workshop tools are urgently needed at Newton D. Baker General hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., for use by wounded servicemen in occupational therapy classes. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lee W. Word, executive secretary of the Allegheny county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Tools which are required immediately are leather modeling tools, knives, linoleum and wood block carving sets, electric jigsaws, plastic ovens, paint brushes, glue pots, hand saws, coping saw frames and blades, vises, treadle sewing machines and electric buffers.

Persons wishing to contribute tools should donate either new ones or tools in good condition, and should bring them to the Red Cross office on the third floor of the post office building, Mrs. Withersup said.

Arrangements to send the tools to the hospital will be made by Mrs. Porter D. Collins, chairman of the hospital and camp council committee of the local Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. Withersup explained that there is a shortage of tools at the hospital because of the popularity of the occupational therapy classes, which enable wounded combat veterans to learn new skills while they are convalescing.

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—J. Nelson Tribby, state adjutant of the American Legion, said today that most of Maryland's 101 Legion posts, now occupying rented or borrowed quarters, would build new homes after the war and that the twenty-two posts already owning establishments would enlarge them.

wisdom of unconditional surrender, would be emphasized by such a maneuver.

When Mr. Roosevelt visited Pearl Harbor nobody could have foreseen the total collapse of Germany before mid-summer this year. The Pacific was still a remote second front so far as military priorities were concerned.

It rates 100 per cent to the total American war effort now and decisions as to just how that overwhelming force is to be applied to produce the quickest and least costly victory results cannot be delayed.

Navy, army and air force top spokesmen have not always seen eye to eye on how the job against Japan could best be done.

That was what prompted President Roosevelt's trip to Hawaii to discuss the subject with such front line commanders and Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur. Their dual command status grew out of that conference but there are some intimations that the sister services of home may not be completely in accord as to procedure from here on even so.

U. S. and Britain Block Proposal On New Mandates

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP)—The United Nations conference pushed forward tonight a plan to use regional defense agreements against aggression.

The decision came at a time when Arab states talked of applying their own defense pact now in a blood-letting dispute with France on the other side of the world.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP)—With Britain and the United States leading the fight, a proposal which would have placed some strategic Pacific islands automatically under international rule in a new world organization, was blocked today at the United Nations conference.

Turned down in a committee considering trusteeships for dependent and strategic areas of the world, was an Egyptian amendment which would have placed mandates from the last world war under supervision of a new league.

Covered Vital Islands

That would have covered such islands as the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines, mandated to Japan after the last conflict and snatched from her in his one at the cost of American lives and blood.

The United States, above all else in a trusteeship system, wants to make sure that she can control Pacific bases which the army and navy consider vital to the maintenance of peace "the Pacific."

Six Affirmative Votes

The Egyptian amendment, which got only six affirmative votes, would have upset the whole trusteeship theory which the committee has been considering—that a "trust" should be placed under jurisdiction of the world organization by consent of the powers possessing the mandated territories.

Commander Harold E. Stassen, for the United States, and Lord Cranborne for the British, argued vigorously against that.

The ballot, Stassen said, "should clear the way for other points. It was an important

Kenneth Porter, Liberated April 16, Is Visiting Parents

By DONALD WILSON
BARTON, May 22—Pfc. Kenneth E. Porter, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Porter, Barton, who was reported missing in action in Luxembourg last January 28, and later reported located April 16, arrived home Saturday afternoon.

Pfc. Porter's parents received word from him of the War department from the time he was reported missing until May 12, when they received a telegram from the War department stating that he had been released from a German prison April 16. The following week a second telegram was received stating that he would be returned to the United States soon.

Pfc. Porter attended Barton high school prior to his induction April 20, 1943, he was employed at the Celanese plant in Cumberland. After receiving his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla., he was sent to Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., for advanced training before going overseas, in November 1943. After about a week in Scotland he was sent to Ireland, where he remained for nine months.

Pfc. Porter took part in the Battle of Normandy and a number of other major battles in France and Germany. At the battle of Mozzell, a gun he was carrying on his shoulder was blown to pieces, he said. On January 28, while engaged in the battle of Luxembourg, he was wounded in the left leg and taken prisoner by the Germans. After receiving hospitalization for six days, he was sent to a prisoner of war camp. At the time of his capture he weighed 160 pounds, but he weighed 130 pounds when released. The treatment he received was good, he said, adding that he had heard that some of the guards were mean to some of the other prisoners. He stayed away from the guards as much as he could.

The food he received while in prison, Pfc. Porter said, was very scant, of a poor grade, and poorly prepared. What he called "putrid" was the main part of the menu for nearly every meal he said, and the quarters of the prisoners were entirely without heat.

Besides the Purple Heart medal, Pfc. Porter also holds three Bronze Stars. After a sixty-day furlough at the home of his parents he will go to Lake Placid, N. Y., for rest and recuperation. He has two brothers in the service, Marvin Porter, Seaman 1-c, somewhere in the Pacific, and Pvt. Raymond Porter with the Seventh army in Germany.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 22 (AP)—The Navy baseball team, its eyes on the Army contest Saturday, will seek to scramble back toward the long side of the score tomorrow when it entertains Hampton-Sidney college, of Virginia, at the Navy field.

New Draft Policy Hailed by Sports Leaders of Nation

Baseball Expected To Be Considered "Useful" Occupation

By BUS HAM
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The worst definitely is over for us, sports leaders said today as they hailed a Selective Service announcement that men 30 and over engaged in "useful" occupations no longer will be drafted.

"Now we're getting something solid to stand on," those interested in professional athletics said. "They have little doubt that such professional sports as baseball would be considered 'useful' work by most local draft boards."

The War Manpower Commission early this spring ruled that ball players could leave war plants to return to their "principal business," baseball. This, in effect, gave baseball a semi-essential rating.

And Selective Service said that WMC's list of essential activities will continue to be used as a guide with local boards having "full authority to determine what may be considered in the national health, safety and interest."

In almost every sport in which men play for pay, many of the top performers are over 30. This is particularly true of baseball. A check of big league rosters revealed that most clubs have a substantial number of players in this age bracket. Some of these have been on the verge of induction into service.

There remained, however, the possibility of more younger athletes... those 18 through 29... being drafted. Selective Service instructed local boards to review at once the files of 4-F and limited service registrants.

Where there is reason to believe "they may now be qualified for military service," these should be forwarded for re-examination, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said.

Baseball men said that many players in this category are legitimate 4-Fs and already have been reviewed.

The War department recently concluded an investigation of alleged cases where athletes were being drafted even though they could not meet physical requirements. It rescinded an order calling for review of cases where athletes were rejected for service.

The Fort Hill High Sentinels' hopes for a Bi-State Conference championship received a jolt yesterday afternoon when Pat Creenan, a 14-year-old freshman, southpawed the LaSalle High Explorers to an upset 5-4 triumph over the Hill-toppers at Community park.

Meanwhile, the Allegany High Campers virtually sewed up the conference championship by shutting out the Beall High Mountaineers, 6-0, at Campobello, behind the slants of Tom Burns. The West Siders lead second-place Fort Hill by two games and need only a victory over LaSalle Friday or a triumph over Fort Hill next Tuesday, when the race ends, to take over the crown won in 1944 by the Explorers.

LaSalle, in shattering its five-game losing streak and squaring accounts with the Sentinels for a 7-1 defeat earlier in the campaign, made all of its four hits off Darl "Ace" Jewell count in the run-making. Jewell, who was the winning hurler in the first meeting of the teams, suffered his second loss against four triumphs.

The Explorers won in the fifth, when, trailing 4-3, they marked up two runs. Frank Hiner walked and stole second. Joe Langan doubled and Tommy Geatz singled.

Geatz's other blows came in the first when two runners crossed the platter on a single by John Esposto, a passed ball, a triple by Geatz and another passed ball.

Brother Justin's outfit counted an unearned run in the second when Joe Becker was hit by a pitched ball, stole second and scored on an error by Eddie Siebert.

Fort Hill registered one marker in each of the first four innings. In the first, Don "Bubbles" Whitman was safe on Creenan's error. Don Blaul muffed a throw by Creenan at first and Whitman went to second and two infield outs permitted "Bubbles" to score.

A walk and stolen base by Vern Penner, an infield out and a late throw to home by Blaul gave the Sentinels their run in the second. In the third, Whitman got to second on an error by Blaul and scored on a single by Irvin Manges and Ralph Beard.

1944 Flops Are

Today's Heroes

In Major Loops

Senators' Wolff and White Sox's Lee Hit Come-back Trail

NEW YORK, May 22 (P)—Throw away the record books and give a hand to yesterday's flops who are today's heroes in the ball parks of the nation.

There's Roger Wolff, of Washington, for example. The veteran knuckleball artist couldn't get anybody out last season, losing eleven straight to merit the catcalls of the Griffith stadium fans for spinning the longest string of successive losses in either league.

As of today, while all the majors except the Yankees and Athletics rested before opening another inter-sectional series, Wolff had four wins and one defeat. The sole setback was in twelve innings, 1-0, after he relieved Johnny Niggeling in the eleventh frame of an early tilt with Philadelphia. He has allowed only nine runs in forty-seven and five complete stanzas and hurled five complete games including a ten inning 1-1 tie with St. Louis.

Lee Making Comeback

White Sox is even more outstanding with a 5-1 victory mark for the American League leaders after a mediocre 3-9 season in 1944. Troubled by elbow and shoulder ailments since 1942, the 37-year-old southpaw suffered a broken bone in his pitching wrist last July 9, benching him until late September.

Now Lee is one of the big reasons for the success of Jimmy Dykes' Sox, aided by some luster clouting from two other veterans hitting the comeback trail.

Tony Cucinello, 36-year-old infielder, is playing third base in big time style and leading the league with a .356 average. Last year he hit only .262. Wally Moses, 33, whose last 300 year was 1941, is smashing the apple at a .314 clip.

Lombardi Off on Big Year

Paul Derringer of the Cubs and Ernie Lombardi of the Giants, are the prize National League exhibits. Paul clicked for four straight pitching decisions and boasted a 5-2 mark at the end of his club's first eastern division.

Lombardi appears off on one of his biggest years with nine homers—more than anybody else in either circuit—and a .348 average as compared to a dreary .225 a year ago. Even Jimmy Pox, although troubled by aching dogs, is playing

Salvation Army Wins Third Straight Game

Salvation Army won its third straight game in the Central Y. M. C. A. Sunday School Softball League Monday evening, drubbing Grace Baptist, 14-4, at Community park.

Nield, Salvation Army pitcher, allowed only four hits. All of the blows came in the sixth when Grace Baptist counted all of its runs.

Yanks Shut Out Athletics, 3 to 0

NEW YORK, May 22 (P)—Twilight ball was something less than a howling success today at the Yankee stadium as 6,622 paying customers turned out in threatening weather to watch the New York Yankees shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

Hank Borowy recorded his sixth victory to one defeat and snapped a five-game Yank losing streak although Jim Turner relieved him in the seventh when he developed a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

After the contest, Owner Larry MacPhail said he had grown lukewarm on the subject of twilight ball, and would have to talk things over with Manager Joe McCarthy about future bookings in the gloaming, though there is a chance that another twilight affair might be tried on May 31, when the Tigers will be in town.

Col. MacPhail said that night ball for the Yanks at home (in the Polo Grounds) was a most remote possibility now for 1945. The box:

wounded while fighting on Okinawa, according to word which his parents received this morning.Sgt. McMillan sent a cablegram to his wife, Mrs. Audrey Tamm Mc-was hospitalized after being further details, he said that he would write soon. He asked her to notify his parents and grandparents.

The family has received no official notice from the War department

ployed in a Baltimore war plant before entering the marine corps.
He has been overseas a year, and he was serving with the Sixth marine division when wounded.
Two weeks ago his parents received a letter from Sgt. McMillan, in which he said that he had been sent to a rest area after fighting in the front lines for twenty-one days. During that time, he said, he had not had a bath or shave. A few days ago a letter arrived stating that he had returned to combat duty.His brother, Pvt. Robert McMillan,

Nation's Economy Termed Explosive By OPA Official

Zenas Potter Addresses
Audiences of 1,000
Persons Here

Inflationary pressures are far greater now than in the First World War, Zenas L. Potter, administrative assistant to Chester Bowles, national OPA administrator, told audiences totaling an estimated 1,000 persons in three addresses here yesterday.

Potter, who termed America's economy "explosive," spoke first at a joint meeting of Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs held at noon in Central YMCA under the auspices of the Allegheny County Anti-Inflation Committee.

Later in the afternoon he was joined by Leo H. McCormick, state director of the OPA, and made two addresses to employees of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, one to the round house force at 2:45 p. m. and a second to back shop workers, beginning about 3:10 p. m.

McCormick introduced an estimated 150 persons attending the dinner in Central YMCA; 500 round house workers heard Potter's address and more than 300 back shop employees heard the talk.

McCormick and Harold W. Smith, representing War Price and Nation Board No. 1-1, acknowledged introductions.

Potter told his audiences that buying power is forty billion dollars a year above goods and services available for civilians to purchase. He added that "public savings up 112 billion dollars, leaving a net deficit of 72 billion dollars. Public savings are very well going into an inflation debauch that will bring tragedy to millions in the next few years."

The OPA official compared the picture of what may happen with what did happen during the last war, pointing out that "living costs rose 108 per cent and then crashed to bring disaster to millions."

Farmers Hit Hard

"Unemployment rose 5,800,000 just when returning soldiers needed to be absorbed into jobs. Factory payrolls shrank forty-four per cent and weekly take-home pay of those still employed shrank from $27.50 to $20.70 a week, Potter explained.

Farmers were hit the hardest of all. Farm prices dropped from $2 to 85 per cent and average annual income fell from $1,300 to $400 a year. Caught in an economic trap, with no way to escape, 448,000 farmers lost their farms through mortgage foreclosures.

"This time inflationary pressures are far greater. Total war costs of the First World War were 30 billion dollars, almost half of it created by inflation. During this war up to January 1, 1945, the war has cost 245 billion dollars, yet instead of rising 91 per cent as they did in the first war, living costs have risen only 36.6 per cent," Potter pointed out.

"The figures are measured by the same yardstick. No doubt this is what led President Truman last week to call price control one of the outstanding achievements of the war."

Praises Local Committee

Turning to the local situation, Potter praised the efforts of the anti-inflation committee and the Cumberland War Price and Rationing Board and its Price Police.

"With only 3,400 enforcement investigators for the entire country," Potter said, "and three million business establishments under price rationing regulations and 16 million retail living quarters under rent control, the job of the committee is to concentrate its attention mainly in enforcing manufacturing and wholesale price ceilings.

"It is necessary to see that goods coming into Cumberland and Allegheny county from outside come at prices which enable merchants to resell them profitably at ceiling prices. The job of securing compliance with retail prices must of a necessity rest upon the people of this community," Potter said.

"If the people of Allegheny county want real protection from wartime inflation they must act to protect themselves," he added.

Curb Is Requested In Mailing Papers To Men in Navy

Effective July 1, 1946, in order to conserve badly needed shipping space, no periodical or newspaper shall be accepted for delivery to Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel overseas unless they are sent in fulfillment of a written request by the addressee, Postmaster James C. Shriver said here today.

This means that anyone serving in the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard must receive a newspaper or magazine through the mails must notify the publisher accordingly. Regardless of who pays for the subscription to the newspaper, the addressee must furnish a written request that may be shown to the postmaster in evidence that the paper or periodical has been requested.

Friends and relatives of naval personnel abroad are urged by the Navy Department to clip pertinent articles and information from newspapers and magazines and enclose them in letters rather than send the whole publication.

Publishers will be required to present the written request for examination at the office of mailing, both for subscriptions and renewals. Relative and friends may pay for the subscription, provided the request has been initiated by the addressee.

However, complimentary copies sent by publishers, copies paid for by advertisers, or copies mailed under any kind of arrangement whereby the publisher solicits the request of addressees will not be accepted for delivery.

Copies mailed in fulfillment of subscriptions which are unexpired on the effective date of this regulation will be accepted until the subscription expires.

DONUTMOBILE AIDS BOND DRIVE—Baltimore street crowds watch Uncle Sam referee a doughnut-eating contest on the platform at the rear of the donutmobile which will conclude its stay in Cumberland today. Prizes for winners and losers were doughnuts. The donutmobile was brought here under the sponsorship of the local mercantile bureau in connection with the Seventh War Loan drive. Persons purchasing $2 in stamps or bonds receive a box of doughnuts. Children who purchased a twenty-five-cent stamp also received a box. Bond booths have been placed at various places along Baltimore street for the sale.

Those who qualified in the last course will be presented certificates at the next district court of honor, May 29 at 7:30 p. m., in the Cumberland Free Public Library. To qualify, scouts must have had perfect attendance, or have completed the reading assignments, and turned them into headquarters. Sgt. Harry Henry Is Liberated

Staff Sgt. Harry L. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Henry, RFD 1, Oldtown, has been liberated after spending seventeen months as a prisoner of war in Stalag Luft 17-B, Koenigsberg, according to word received by his parents Monday.

Sgt. Henry sent a telegram to his wife, Mrs. Mary Henry, Philadelphia, telling her that he had been liberated and adding that he will be home as soon as possible.

A gunner and first engineer aboard a B-24 Liberator bomber based in England, Sgt. Henry was captured December 22, 1943, less than one month after he arrived overseas. He entered the army in August, 1942.

After graduating from Oldtown high school, Sgt. Henry was employed at the Cramp shipyard in Philadelphia before entering the service. His parents have had no direct word from him since last August, when they received a letter which he had written in Stalag Luft 17-B the preceding April 25.

A brother and two sisters live in Cumberland. They are Clarence Henry, 13 Boone street; and the Misses Ethel and Elsie Henry, 109 Frederick street.

A joint meeting of the executive house and dance committees will be held Saturday, May 26 at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of outlining plans for the promotion of Saturday night dances at the Legion home. Committee chairmen are Robert C. Bowers, executive; Benjamin F. Ryan, house, and John R. Kelly, dance.

Water Runs Upstream: Engineers at Vicksburg Prove It To Amazement of Cumberlanders

Father Russell Expresses the True Meaning of
"God Bless America"

By CLARENCE V. BURNS

Believe it, or not, engineers at the United States Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg, Miss., can make water run upstream against the current!

The average reader will refuse to believe such a feat can be achieved but the army engineers demonstrated it to the satisfaction of a group of Cumberlanders who went to Mississippi last week to witness tests of the local flood model.

It was while exhibiting the Savannah, Ga., harbor model that the engineers showed very distinctly the movement of salt water currents beneath fresh water, presenting quite a problem in the Savannah river, which flows into the Atlantic ocean. Not only did the army present a model of the river, but they also made it do an about face down the river into the ocean.

There's a saying that figures don't lie but here's a figure. By actual count 394 persons marched in the "I Am an American Day" parade sponsored Sunday by Henry H. Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

One of the most exceptional yet beautiful speeches heard at a local high school senior high dramatic club and also served as editor of the 1945 yearbook.

Construction on the dormitory for cadet nurses of the Allegheny Hospital School of Nursing virtually stopped yesterday morning at 10 o'clock when union carpenters walked off the job in protest to the use of pre-cut building materials. F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024, announced yesterday.

Members of Laborers and Hod Carriers Local 616 also stopped work in a sympathy move after the Sutcliffe Construction Company of Nesqueokee, Pa., delivered lumber which had been cut to exact size at the company's mill in Nesqueokee, union officials said.

Officials of the War Production Board and the Federal Works Agency are investigating the complaint, Allender said, and will report their findings to officials of the local Carpenters union.

The Carpenters union, the local labor official explained, insists on a pre-determined wage rate and was advised by union officials that wages paid in the mill in Pennsylvania are considerably less than the $12.25 an hour wage scale paid on the job here in accordance with the terms of the contract.

Where bids call for the use of pre-fabricated materials, Allender explained, local carpenters have no objection whatever to its use. "The bid for the local hospital job, however, called for on-the-job construction, Allender said.

Only about six carpenters and six laborers were involved in work stoppage, union officials said.

Pfc. Clarence H. McCarthy, 323 Emily street, who was wounded in Italy last fall, received the Combat Infantryman Badge recently at ceremonies at the Newton D. Baker general hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., where he is convalescing.

Col. E. L. Cook, commanding officer, presented the award. Music was the Three Hundred and Fifty-sixth ASF band, under the direction of Ralph Yehle.

Boyd O. Jewell, recently appointed secretary-treasurer of Local 36, United Brotherhood Workers of America, by the executive board will serve until a successor is elected by the local, Ralph C. Beard, president of the local announced yesterday.

Jewell was appointed to succeed Miss Yelva E. Deal who resigned after being named temporarily to the post upon the resignation of John F. Chisholm. The election was scheduled Sunday but was deferred since business scheduled for the meeting was not completed.

PLAYS HOUSEKEEPER—Barbara Jane Kitzmiller, will portray the role of the great housekeeper in "Spring Green," the Allegheny high school senior class play to be presented in the school auditorium Friday night at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Kitzmiller's role of a crocheter and middle-aged housekeeper in "Spring Green" is a complete departure from her portrayal of the sophisticated and attractive widow in "Janie," the dramatic club production presented in March. She has participated in the activities of the junior high and senior high dramatic clubs and also served as editor of the 1945 yearbook.

At the close of business Saturday, the county's E bond total was $275,872.25, an increase of $14,070 over Friday's total of $261,802.25.

McMullen said the "surge" of E bond purchases is most gratifying and indicates residents of Allegheny county are determined to reach the highest quota ever assigned them in a war loan.

Total sale of all bonds Saturday was $570,182.75.

McMullen reported that the Sinclair Oil Company has allocated $5,000 of its bond purchases to Allegheny county.

"Donutmobile" Spurs Purchases Of Bonds, Stamps

County Chairman Reports
E Bond Total Reaches
$275,872

Sales of war bonds and stamps, spurred by performances at the "Donutmobile" on Baltimore street, were practically doubled yesterday in connection to Monday, the first day the donutmobile factory on wheels made its appearance here.

Appearing here under the auspices of the mercantile bureau, the "Donutmobile" and its east of enterprise attracted large crowds from noon to 9 p. m. both yesterday and Monday.

Members of the mercantile bureau reported last night that they are "quite pleased" with the sale of bonds and stamps to date, and said they expect the total to be swelled again today.

Donutmobile Given with Purchase

The "Donutmobile" manufactures, tools and sugars 6,000 doughnuts an hour, and as an incentive to the sale of bonds and stamps during the Seventh War Loan drive, a box of six doughnuts is given to each purchaser of $2 worth or more in war stamps. In addition there are special bargain periods when children receive doughnuts for purchasing a twenty-five cent war stamp.

Today will be the last for the appearance of the "Donutmobile" here since it leaves Cumberland at 6 p. m. for Hagerstown for another bond boosting demonstration.

More than $14,000 worth of E bonds were purchased in the county last Saturday, according to Federal Reserve Bank figures received yesterday by John J. McMullen, chairman of the Seventh War Loan drive in Allegheny county.

At the close of business Saturday, the county's E bond total was $275,872.25, an increase of $14,070 over Friday's total of $261,802.25.

Staff Sgt. Dale E. Files Returns Home after Flying 36 Missions

Staff Sgt. Dale E. Files, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Files, 420 North Centre street, came home Thursday on a thirty-day furlough after completing thirty-six missions over Germany as right waist gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress attached to the Eighth air force.

A graduate of Allegheny high school in 1942, Sgt. Files was employed at the Celanese plant before entering the army air forces March 1, 1943. He trained at Miami Beach, Fla.; Lowery field, Denver, Colo.; and Kingman air field, Ariz., where he received his gunner's wings before going overseas last August.

He holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters, three battle stars on his European theater campaign ribbon, and the presidential unit citation ribbon.

At the end of his furlough, Sgt. Files will report to Miami Beach for reassignment.

A brother, Seaman First Class Nelson M. Files, now serving in the South Pacific, has been overseas one year. Another brother, Lloyd T. Files, was honorably discharged from the army February 10 after serving for over two years as a member of Sgt. Platt's special service band. The band is now in London.

Mailing of County Tax Bills Is Delayed By Envelope Shortage

An envelope shortage has caused delay in the mailing of state and county tax bills, it was revealed yesterday by Lucien E. Radcliffe, Allegheny county tax collector.

Envelopes were ordered six weeks ago but had not arrived up to yesterday afternoon. Court house attaches managed to obtain envelopes yesterday but the supply was insufficient to mail approximately 22,000 tax bills. An order was placed yesterday with a local firm for the delivery of 2,500 envelopes.

A discount of five per cent will be allowed on county taxes if paid on or before June 30; four per cent, July 31, and three per cent, August 31. No discount can be allowed on county taxes after August 31. Interest must be charged from September 1, 1945, at the rate of one-half per cent a month or fractional part thereof.

State Motor Law Amended To Curb Reckless Drivers

Restricts Operation of Cars to Financially Responsible Owners

Strengthened by an amendment, effective January 1, 1946, the Maryland Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act will become a comprehensive safety financial responsibility law with real teeth in it, designed to strike hard at reckless automobile drivers and financially irresponsible owners, for the safety of the public and the protection of careful and responsible owners and drivers.

The new law which will affect the owner and driver of every automobile operated in Maryland, is designed to restrict the ownership and operation of automobiles to careful drivers and financially responsible owners, able to pay damages for death, bodily injury or property damage caused by automobiles owned or operated by them, and to deny to reckless and financially irresponsible persons the right to own or operate motor vehicles in Maryland.

What the Law Provides

Here's how the law works: If, after January 1, 1946, an uninsured automobile be in any way involved in an accident resulting in bodily injury or death to a person other than its owner or operator or, in damages in excess of $50 to the property of another, the Department of Motor Vehicles shall suspend the license of the operator, and all registrations of the owner, unless such operator or owner deposit with the Department of Motor Vehicles security, sufficient in the judgment of the department, to satisfy any judgments resulting from such accident.

License and registration shall be suspended within sixty days after the department has received a report of the accident. Ten days' notice setting forth the amount of deposit required must be given by the department before the suspension becomes effective.

License and registration shall remain suspended and shall not be renewed, nor shall any new license or registration be issued, to the person affected until:

required; or one year has elapsed following the accident and no action for damages has been commenced; or he has filed with the department evidence of release from liability; or final adjudication of non-liability or of confinement of judgment payable in installments, for an amount agreed upon with the person sustaining the damage; or a duly acknowledged written agreement with the person sustaining the damage, for payment, in installments, of the amount agreed upon.

Those Not Included

These provisions shall not apply to the owner of a car operated or parked by one having obtained possession or control of it without the owner's consent, express or implied; nor to the owner of, and in addition, an automobile involved in an accident in which no other person sustained bodily injury or property damage; nor to the owner or operator of an automobile which was lawfully parked at the time of the accident.

When the license of a person has been suspended or revoked because of a conviction in Maryland or elsewhere, all registration certificates and plates of uninsured automobiles owned by that person shall also be suspended and shall not be restored or a new license of registration issued, unless permitted by the Motor Vehicle Law and, in addition, such owner has furnished, or shall immediately furnish and maintain for three years, proof of financial responsibility. If a license has been revoked, application for a new license may not be granted until the expiration of three months after such revocation.

Proof of financial responsibility means proof of ability to pay damages for liability thereafter incurred, in the amount of $5,000 for bodily injury to or death of one person, including damages for care and loss of services; and, subject to that limit for one person, in the amount of $10,000 for bodily injury to or death of two or more persons in any one accident; and in the amount of $1,000 for damages to property in any one accident. Proof must be furnished for each motor vehicle registered in the name of the person affected.

Covers Non-Residents

Non-residents owning or operating motor vehicles in Maryland are subject to all of the provisions and penalties of the law, to the same extent as are residents. The department shall report to motor vehicle commissioners of other states, convictions and unsatisfactory judgments in Maryland against residents of those states.
